

The Balanced Plate

Build any meal in about 30 seconds — no weighing, no tracking, no math. Just picture your plate in sections.

 $\frac{1}{2}$

Fruit & veggies

Color and fiber — fills you up, not out.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

Protein

Keeps you full longest; builds & repairs muscle.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

Carbs

Your main energy — especially around workouts.

+

A thumb of healthy fat & water

Hormones, satisfaction, hydration.

$\frac{1}{4}$ PLATE

Protein

Chicken, turkey
Lean beef
Eggs / egg whites
Greek yogurt
Cottage cheese
Fish & tuna
Tofu, beans

$\frac{1}{4}$ PLATE

Carbs

Rice, quinoa
Oats
Potatoes
Sweet potatoes
Whole-grain bread
Pasta
Fruit, beans

ADD A THUMB

Fats

Avocado
Olive oil
Nuts & seeds
Nut butter
Salmon
Cheese
Whole eggs

$\frac{1}{2}$ PLATE

Veg & Fruit

Leafy greens
Broccoli
Peppers
Tomatoes
Berries
Banana, apple
Frozen mix

Three things to remember

Protein + fiber is the fullness power couple — build meals around them.

Consistency beats perfection. A repeatable 80% wins every time.

No food is "bad." It's your overall pattern that matters, not one meal.

Drink water with meals — thirst often masquerades as hunger.